

IrishCentral.

5 March 2015

Green Fields of America turns to Old Time, Bluegrass and West Africa

Paul Keating @irishcentral

Dr. Mick Moloney annual "Celtic Appalachia" celebration in New York City this St. Patrick's Day.

It has become a welcome addition to the St. Patrick's Season cultural celebration when Dr. Mick Moloney unfolds his latest extravaganza in collaboration with the Irish Arts Center dealing with the roots and branches of Irish music. The annual affair now in its fourth edition is called "Celtic Appalachia" and it features solid Irish traditional music with an infusion of Old Time and Bluegrass music and West African music and it will take place on Saturday, March 14 with two shows with a 2:30 pm matinee and an 8 pm